CONTESTING THE YALU

JAPANESE HAVE NO EASY PASSAGE.

Sharp Engagements Ensue in the Attempt to Cross Over—Deployment of Russian Troops Described

UNREST IN RUSSIA.

Chicago, April 27.—A special from Warsaw to the Daily News says:

"The arrest of anti-Russian Polish agitators in all parts of European Russia indicates the extent of the revolutionary movement. The fate of the prisoners is uncertain, but leaders of the social democracy inform the News correspondent that stories of wholesale hangings are false. Summary deportations are expected. Working classes and the peasantry are in active alliance."

A special to the Daily News from New Chwang says:

"Official Russian advice from Mukden can be relied upon. Kuropatkin's deployment is so far advanced that it covers the very lines the Japanese purpose to occupy. Should the Japanese succeed in driving the Russians north the Muscovite line of defense will extend from New Chwang to Liao Yang and from Liao Yang to the Yalu river. Russian generals profess confidence the Japanese can make no headway by frontal attacks, while Russians can cope with the widest flanking operations the mikado's men are likely to undertake. When these operations begin, say the Muscovites, Kuropatkin's counted stroke will bring down the Japanese scheme of offense like a house of cards. Continued delay on the part of the enemy is a great surprise to Russians."

CAVALRY MOVEMENTS.

St. Petersburg, April 27.—An account given here of movements of cavalry under Major General Mistchenko, commander of the western Cossack brigade, while not officially confirmed, is accepted as trustworthy. It is as follows:

"General Mistchenko's Cossacks reached Song-Jin, Northeast Corea, and after occupying the place turned north along the Seoul-Pekin road and occupied Anju. Not a shot was fired, Japanese and Coreans withdrawing. The unexpected appearance of Cossacks in the rear of the Japanese forces near the Yalu caused a panic among Japanese troops proceeding towards the Yalu from Ping Yang and they retreated. Japanese troops at Pak-Choen, Fu-Song, Ku-San, and Chong-Ju did not attempt to stop the Cossacks, but moved towards the northwest by forced marches."

Liao Yang, April 27.—The Japanese troops which crossed the Yalu north of Euitjou (Chhangdjo) charged during the night of April 26-27 the Russian position near Li-zauvera, a village on the Manchurian bank of the Yalu. They were repulsed, but their loss is not known. Two gunboats steamed up the river to support the Japanese, when a Russian field battery at Amisan opened upon them, resulting in a duel which lasted twenty minutes. The Russian fire was too hot and the gunboats were forced to turn and steam out of range. The Japanese were facilitated in crossing by their occupation of the Island of Samulha.

WAR REPORTS.

London, April 27.—A despatch from Kobe, Japan, says several vessels, believed to be Russian, were again sighted off Wonsan, Corea.

St. Petersburg, April 27.—The crossing of the Yalu river did not impress the Russians in view of reports of resounding Japanese reverse. These reports became more persistent at noon and caused an all around rise on the bourse, but so far there has been no confirmation of them officially.

London, April 27.—No further light has been thrown on operations on the Yalu and in the absence of official dispatches little attention is paid to Russian reports of Japanese reverses, which it is believed are spread with the motive of influencing European money markets in favor of Russian financial operations. No definite news has been received regarding the whereabouts of the Vladivostok squadron, but indications are that it has re-gained the harbor.

AS TO IMMIGRANTS

Vienna, April 27.—It is stated on the highest authority that in event of discrimination being shown by the United States government against immigrants from the port of Flume or if that government places extraordinary obstacles in the way of landing of such immigrants in the United States before both sides in the case are heard, the Hungarian government will regard it as a distinctly unfriendly act.

Buda Pest, April 27.—Marcus Baum, special United States immigration inspector, was received to day by Premier Tisza. It is reported the provision of the agreement between the Hungarian government and the Czardar line, under which the government guarantees 30,000 emigrants annually will be struck out.

Much time was given to discussion of work and objects of a home for dependent children at Morgan Park, Ill. The afternoon session included a memorial service for members who died during the year, of whom there were seven, and discussion of oriental schools by Mrs. L. T. Egan, of Chicago.

MUNICIPAL LEAGUE.

Chicago, April 27.—The tenth annual meeting of the National Municipal league began here to day with delegates present from every large city in the United States. Clinto Rogers Woodruff, of Philadelphia, spoke on the year's disclosures and developments.

THE GRAND ARMY

Springfield, April 27.—Reports of the Grand Army encampment show 552 posts, with a membership of 20,000. Loss by death during the past year, 753; by suspension, 62. A feature of the day was the parade. In the session of affiliated lodges addresses were made and officers made reports.

ACQUITTED OF SHOPLIFTING.

Chicago, April 27.—Edward Travis and wife, of Baltimore, were to day acquitted on the charge of shoplifting. It is the case in which the plea was made for the wife that she should be held innocent because whatever she did was by her husband's command and according to the Bible a woman must obey her husband at all times.

REFUSE THE BEQUEST

Trustees of Missionary Society of M. E. Church Decline to Accept Donation.

Kenosha, April 27.—The trustees of the missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church have refused to accept the bequest of the late William W. Cooper, under the terms of which will the church would probably have received about $50,000. There was a provision in the will that they should make an allowance for Cooper's wife and daughter, and it is thought that this is the reason for declination. Lawrence university received a bequest similar to that of the Methodist Episcopal church. Doubt is expressed among lawyers as to whom the church portion will revert. Cooper lost his life in the Troquels theatre disaster at Chicago.

RESIGNED.

St. Louis, April 27.—Cass Gilbert, architect of the art palace and festival hall at the world's fair, to day resigned as member of the commission of architects, and immediately brought suit against the exposition company to secure $47,000, which he alleges is due him as the balance on his contract of $78,000.

Grossup, of the United States circuit court, at Chicago, delivered an address to night before the Grant club on Liberty and Corporations. The occasion was the celebration of the birthday of Grant, Hon. Frederick G. Wunder, of Milwaukee, and Nathan E. Kendall, of Albia, member of the Iowa house of representatives, were other speakers. An elaborate banquet preceded the address. Judge Grossup's address was marked with frequent applause.

The muster out takes place May 10. Colonel Ewart will have charge of the ceremony. An election for captain and other officers was ordered for the evening of May 10 in Troop D. Major Milton Foreman, of Champaign, will preside.

SHOT WIFE AND FLED

Murder at Peoria on Account of "Another Man."

Peoria, April 27.—Dreylyn to desperation by the belief that his wife had sustained improper relations with another man. Albert Glasford deliberately murdered the woman by firing three bullets into her body at close range. The murder was committed at the Glasford home, the man firing the shots without offering any explanation.

Immediately after the murder the man fled from the house and all efforts of the police failed to result in his capture.

A posse has started in an attempt to locate him. Glasford is known as a desperado man when enraged. He has served one term in the Illinois penitentiary, being sent up for forgery.

There is considerable feeling against him, for the killing was one of the most cold blooded affairs that ever happened in this county.

ATTORNEY GENERAL REPLIES.

Attorney General Knox to day transmitted to the house replies to inquiry introduced by Williams (Miss.), relative to trusts. As to whether criminal prosecutions had been begun against persons involved in the Northern Securities decision as guilty of violation of law, Knox says no such prosecutions have been instituted. In the matter of investigation of the so-called coal trust, Knox redacted efforts to secure the books of companies concerned, both by the department and the interstate commerce commission, entering suit by the latter body and the decision of the supreme court requiring the production of documents requested by the commission. He said he is informed the commission is about to renew the hearings, which when completed, will be held before the department of justice. In connection with other evidence, has gathered itself and has been furnished to it by sundry persons, at available information in relation to the alleged combination. "Further than this," says the attorney, "I do not deem it compatible with public interest to comply with the resolution."

ad NOTES

The conferees on the river and harbor bill reached an agreement this afternoon. The amount carried by the bill as it passed the house is not increased. The senate receded from all but four of its amendments and two of those simply amended the phraseology of the bill.

TOWN ON FIRE.

Mitchell, S. D., April 27.—The town of Mt. Vernon, twelve miles west, narrowly escaped destruction by fire to day. The fire originated in a warehouse and destroyed that and four elevators. Sparks started fires in the business district and the Mitchell fire department was called upon for assistance. Special trains carried firemen to Mt. Vernon and they saved many buildings. Loss, $50,000.

New York, April 27.—Two firemen are supposed to be buried in the ruins of the Stanley soap works, which were destroyed by fire early to day. Another fireman was caught by falling wall and seriously injured. The damage to the soap works is $150,000.

TO START BIG COAL COMPANY

Capital Stock of Waverly Company to Be Raised to $40,000.

Waverly, April 26.—The Waverly Coal Mining and Prospecting company held a stockholders' meeting here and considered a proposition to raise the capital stock of the company to $40,000. The company is greatly elated over the four foot, six inch vein of fine coal recently struck at the new bearing a mile east of the city.

This coal is at a depth of about 170 feet from the surface. The first hole bored by the company failed to show a workable vein at the depth of 350 feet, though natural gas began to escape from the drill hole soon after being abandoned. The Waverly Tile and Brick company then put in a pipe to conduct the gas to its plant. The gas in this pipe now shows a pressure of twenty-five pounds and the gas has been furnishing from two to seven lights night and day for several weeks.

If gas should be found again in the course of prospecting by the Coal Mining company it probably would be given separate management. The present gas well and the newly found coal mine are situated about a mile apart, the former being located in the city.

The stock is placed at $2,500 and the incorporators are John S. Hurle, James S. Miles and Robert Bone, all wealthy farmers residing in the vicinity of Petersburg. #### DEATH INSTEAD OF WEDDING.

Decatur, Ill., April 27.—Richard L. Roberts, the Wabash fireman who was stabbed by Roy Brom, a discharged waiter in the restaurant at the Railway Y. M. C. A., last Thursday evening, died at the hospital Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock. In his dying statement Roberts stated that Manager Burson of the restaurant, who is under arrest charged with being an accessory to the stabbing, is guiltless and that the only part he took was in endeavoring to stop the trouble. Brom was drunk at the time and the assault grew out of an old grudge.

A painful feature of the stabbing is that the victim, who was a highly respected and steady young man, was to have been married last Sunday to Miss Eva Small. Arrangements for the wedding, which was to have taken place at her home, were complete. Miss Small was at the bedside of her lover when the end came.

Brom has not been captured. It is thought he came to Springfield after the stabbing, and it is possible he is there yet.

"LOVE IS BLIND."

One of George Ade's songs in "The Show," the new Ade-Lindner opera, is called "Love is Blind," and it runs like this:

Tell me if you can,
The rule by which a man
Selects his worse or better half.
Truly is world seem,
To be a lottery scheme,
The prizes often make one laugh.
As for instance:
The woman thin and slim and tall,
Will love a human butter ball,
While one who's round and plump and fat
Picks out a man as tall as that.

The author of the learned book,

Is sometimes wedded to his cook,
The girl who's frivolous and gay,
Picks out a Meek Y. M. C. A.

The statesman with ambitions high,

Will choose a social butterfly.

The Charley kind of mamma's pet,

Pursues the elderly soubrette.

You've seen the beauty linked by fate,

To freaked Fred, who's eyes don't mate.

The broker worships as a queen,

The blonde who plays the Smith machine

Retraining:

Cupid leaves all rules behind.

Funny married folks we find;

Love, ah, love, you must be blind.

RAMSEY CLOSED SHOPS.

Decatur, April 27.—President Ramsey, of the Wabash, Tuesday ordered the shops here closed down. Otherwise there is no development in the strike here. The wrecking crew is out of service.

Snow Twenty Yards Deep.

Europe did not escape the severity of the past winter. One would have to go to the northwest to find conditions equaling those of the White lake region of Alsace. The Berlin correspondent of the Newcastle Chronicle states that there has been an almost ceaseless fall of snow since the beginning of February. The ice on the lake is said to be nineteen inches thick, but upon this snow, hurled down by the wind from the Hautes Chaumes above, lies to the almost incredible depth of twenty yards. The hotel on the lake shore, owing to its peculiar position, can only be approached by a tunnel through the snow thirty yards in length. Terrible floods are anticipated should a rapid thaw set in.

He Knows the Scriptures.

At a recent gathering of the diplomatic corps in Washington, when the Russian and French ambassadors and the Chinese and Japanese ministers were present, some exceedingly discreet allusions were made to the Russo-Japanese unpleasantness. Count Cassini may have thought he had heard a compliment to Japanese alacrity, for he remarked pointedly to M. Jusserand and in the hearing of the representatives of Japan and China, "Yes, but the good book says, 'The race is not to the swift.'" Quick as a flash Sir Chentung finished the Scripture of Ecclesiastes in the ear of his Japanese colleague, "Nor the battle to the strong."

Dress in the Commons.

There is one point about the house of commons that strikes an occasional visitor afresh every session, and that is the well groomed appearance of the members. Taking it all in all, the house is probably the best dressed assembly in the world. In the American house of representatives it is just the other way about. The ordinary congressional costume is a long and very loose frock coat, a low cut waistcoat, a turned down collar, a white bow and a derby or felt hat. At first glance you might easily take congress for an assembly of dissenting ministers.—London Chronicle.

Fireman's Water Hat.

The Berlin fire brigade is experimenting with a device called a water hat. It consists of the addition to the ordinary helmet of a circular rose which sprays water at an angle of forty-five degrees in a downward direction. The pipe which leads to this rose is to be attached to the nozzle of an ordinary fire hose. When in use the fireman is protected, as far as the head and face are concerned, by a curtain of water, which, besides its coolness, gives him pure air to breathe, even in the midst of a dense smoke, as it acts as a condensing medium and also as a filter.

Why Fremont Unfermented Grape Juice is Nutritious

Because it's Good, Pure and Unfermented.

FREMONT GRAPE JUICE is not the thing to drink if you must become intoxicated. Thousands of physicians prescribe it in their practice regularly because they have found the FREMONT brand of Grape Juice to be absolutely the life of the grape and nothing else. Alcoholic juices and beverages are temporary stimulants at best, while with FREMONT GRAPE JUICE the good effects are permanent and lasting.

For sacramental uses, Fremont Grape Juice is certainly the safest, purest and best that can be procured for this purpose.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of circuit clerk of Morgan county, subject to the decision of the Republican county convention.

C. L. HAYDEN.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination for coroner, subject to the decision of the Morgan county Republican convention.

F. M. PERGUSON.

The men who supported Hearst from principle and failed to get a hand in his barrel, will be looking for somebody to kick them during the early part of June.

The men who stood for free silver against their convictions in the last two national campaigns will discover that it sometimes pays in the long run to abide by principle, even though it may not win for the time being.

We always did think well of Judge Parker, David B. Hill, General Palmer and even Grover Cleveland is not half as bad as he has been painted! (Brief extract from an expected editorial in various Democratic papers after June).

Delegates some times come rather high. It is estimated that each representative Hearst will have in the St. Louis national convention will cost him at least $10,000, and he has about as much show for the nomination for president as he has to invent permanent motion.

It is said that Diogenes, the old Greek cynic, went about with a lighted candle looking for a man, but it would take a whole search light to discover the principles which will govern the Democratic party at its national convention. As has been truly said, the platform is written and is, "We are unalterably opposed to _____" (This space is reserved for the Republican platform).

It has been truly said that never in the history of any nation did a great, national party adopt a leading issue in which so few of its constituents, men honestly believed, as was the case with the Democratic party in 1896 and 1900, and yet those very men want the party to regard them as "regular."

And wouldn't it be immense if, after all, a stampede in the St. Louis convention should result in the nomination of Grover Cleveland? It is intimated quite broadly that Judge Parker and his followers have just such an aim in mind and laying their plans accordingly. David Bennett Hill is a long-headed politician and while he was turned down in 1896, he came up smiling not long after, and is now in the saddle.

It will be extremely interesting to note the proceedings of the national Democratic convention and see who will be regarded as "regular." During the past two presidential campaigns Bryan and his forces have assumed to be the only ones entitled to that distinction, but now, while the orator from Nebraska insists he has not changed any at all in his views, he is practically ignored by almost every Democratic member of congress and is rapidly descending to the plane of a scold, just as Governor St. John, of Kansas, descended after he deserted the Republican party, and a large part of the Prohibitionists deserted him. The Bryan "regulars" denounce Hill, Parker, Palmer, Cleveland and all who stood for sound money in most unmeasured terms, while the Democrats who voted for Parker, and, in fact, all who wouldn't support Bryan, are inclined to ignore the candidate who twice led the party to defeat, and organize it on wholly new lines. The little unpleasantness among the Democratic brethren of Sangamon county at their recent convention wasn't a circumstance, compared with the scenes which will be enacted when the two sets of "regulars" get together in St. Louis.

American farmers have always thought they knew a thing or two about farming but Dr. H. J. Webber, director of the laboratory of plant breeding of the government department of agriculture, says, that they are a dismal failure. Where our best states produce twenty-five bushels of wheat, England produces thirty-five bushels. Where our best cotton lands yields 190 pounds to the acre, Egypt yields 500. Other countries can raise more corn than Illinois, the corn state.

More gold bricks are sold to city folks than to those residing in the rural districts.

IRRIGATION IN NEVADA

Features of the Arid Land Reclamation.

HOW TWO RIVERS WILL BE USED.

Water From the Truckee and Carson Will Be Stored in a Large Reservoir Near Ruggtown—Danger of Making Reclamation Work a Government Charity Scheme.

"The most interesting thing I saw," said Frederick H. Newell, chief engineer of the reclamation service, in describing to the New York Post's Washington correspondent a recent inspection tour through the west, "was the construction work now going on in Nevada to convey water from the Truckee to the Carson river, and there to store it in a large reservoir a short distance above Ruggtown. This settlement was so named in the days of the overland emigration because, after the caravans had crossed the Carson desert, they rested there to overhaul their outfit before going up the Carson river and across the Sierra Nevada mountains. Near the spot where the reservoir is now building the emigrants went into camp, washed their clothes for the first time in a long while and hung them out to dry, where they made an impression on beholders which has been preserved in the town's name. In general, travelers have put their things into a more compact form at this point, abandoning whatever was worn out or useless before starting across the mountains."

"To reach Ruggtown they had come down the Humboldt river, from which they had a fair supply of water until they reached the Humboldt sink. Beyond that the water was sometimes very bad, as the country is full of alkaline lakes, clear and of great depth, very attractive to the eye, but extremely poisonous. The horses and mules would not ordinarily drink it, but sometimes, under intense thirst, they would rush into one of these lakes and drink freely, with fatal results. From the lower Humboldt over to the Carson there is fully forty miles of very sandy, alkaline desert—rolling, hummocky land—across which the tired animals could hardly force their way, and the road in old times was said to be literally strewned with bones and with fragments of household furnishings dropped out on the way to lighten loads. Many people died on this last piece of road, and their friends, on reaching the Carson river, would bury their bodies in a little cemetery which eventually came to contain many hundred bodies, as was shown by the gun barrels or other pieces of iron driven into the ground at the head of each grave. This land was lately plowed up and put into alfalfa. The farmer who did it gathered many wagon loads of old iron, which he dumped into the Carson river to get it out of the way. There is now nothing left of Ruggtown but one house and a blacksmith shop."

"It is proposed, with the water to be stored here, to reclaim this great extent of desert and convert a considerable part of it into a densely settled and highly cultivated farming region. The soil, although sandy and in places alkaline, is as a whole of good quality and with an adequate water supply would yield large crops. Within the present decade it is hoped that this desolate country will be covered with farms and traversed by good roads, a transformation more wonderful than anything the emigrant trains were destined to find in El Dorado.

"One of the curious things about this change is that on the very land over which the emigrants passed with so much suffering and where so many persons died from thirst it has recently been found possible to dig wells and get a very fair quality of water. To be sure, they did not have strength or interest to dig, and naturally they would have supposed that if they did strike water it would be alkaline."

Such transformations as Mr. Newell describes make the irrigation experiment most fascinating. One danger must be avoided at the capital—the pressure which will inevitably arise to have this reclaimed land given away or made the basis of some comprehensive scheme of government charity. Senator Hoar, for example, introduced a bill of most extraordinary character the other day at the request of the Salvation Army, and while the senator guarded himself by saying that he did not desire "to be committed to all its details," the bill cannot be regarded, coming from so widely extended a religious organization, as without strong backing. It proposes an issue of $50,000,000 in 3 per cent bonds, the proceeds to be used in moving the poor of the great cities to the irrigated regions of the west and there establishing them in profitable agriculture.

This particular measure will never pass, but plans for getting the reclaimed land for nothing may be expected to break forth in congress about as soon as any of it is ready for the plow. The government has no purpose of getting any interest in its investment in any way. All that it hopes to do is to get the original outlay restored by ten annual payments from the water users. This is liberal enough, since Uncle Sam takes all the risks of ventures which may cost more than settlers are ever willing to go in on, and at this time between business and benevolence congress should make a firm stand.

Ledferd's Book Store*ELLIOTT PROPERTY*SELECTED GAS SITE FOR NEW CHURCH*Members of Christian Church Congregation Reached Unanimous Conclusion at Meeting Wednesday Evening.

A congregational meeting of the Christian church was held in the church auditorium Wednesday evening for the purpose of hearing and acting upon the report of the committee recently appointed by the official board of the church for the purpose of choosing a location for the new church building. Interest in the matter has been very keen and an audience composed only of members of the church completely filled the auditorium.

The meeting was called to order by the pastor, Rev. R. F. Thrapp, and George E. Sybrant was chosen chairman. In the absence of the clerk, C. L. Hayden, D. Rees Browning was elected secretary of the meeting.

The chairman stated the object of the meeting and Rev. Mr. Thrapp made an introductory talk, outlining the work up to the present time. He spoke of the mutual concessions that had been made and asked that all vote as the best interests of the church dictated. He put the question before the meeting in all its different aspects and asked that the matter be approached in a Christian spirit. The secretary then read the report of the committee, which was as follows.

"To the members of the Christian church, Jacksonville, Ill.: We, your committee, appointed by the official board of the church to select a location for a central Christian church in Jacksonville, Ill., respectfully submit the following report:

"After carefully considering the various lots offered, and also taking into consideration the location of the membership and probable growth of population, we would unanimously recommend that the property known as the Elliott lot, on the corner of West College avenue and Church street, be purchased and that a church be erected thereon at once.

"We also recommend that the trustees of the church be authorized to sell the present property of the congregation at such time as may by them deemed proper.

"Respectfully submitted,

April 27, 1904.

It was then moved by O. L. Hill, seconded by George Brady, that the report of the committee be accepted. There was no discussion and a rising vote was called for. No votes were recorded against the motion and it was declared carried unanimously. The decision was greeted with applause.

Rev. R. F. Thrapp then offered a few words of prayer. Short addresses were made by Elder S. C. Brockman, George Hillerby, A. C. Rice, S. D. Osborne and Frank Huffaker. All spoke of the satisfaction they felt in the decision of the congregation and expressed their pleasure in being able to second that decision. After singing the doxology, the meeting adjourned.

board of the church was held for the purpose of appointing a building committee, which is as follows: J. R. Loar, chairman; Rev. R. F. Thrapp, D. Osborne, A. G. Burr, George Brady, D. Rees Browning and C. R. Taylor.

An option has already been secured on the property in question, and the purchase will be completed this morning. It is said that the price to be paid will be between $8,000 and $8,500. The lot has frontage on College avenue of 173 feet and 180 feet on Church street, being of such dimensions as to allow the erection of a large church edifice and a parsonage, with no appearance of crowding. The dwelling house now on the grounds is not included in the purchase price.

The cost of the proposed building is estimated at about $36,000, exclusive of furnishings and heating apparatus, which will swell the total to approximately $42,000. A leading feature of the building will be a model Sunday school department. In connection with this will be fifteen or twenty class rooms, and everything will be in accordance with the latest ideas of Sunday school appliances.

The basement will be fitted up with a commodious kitchen, dining room and probably parlors. In addition to the pastor's study there will probably be several parlors on the main floor. A balcony will be one of the features of the auditorium, which will be arranged to seat approximately 1,500 persons. The structure will probably be of vitrified brick with stone trimmings.

About $22,000 has already been secured in written pledges and this will probably be swelled to $24,000 by Sunday.

The building committee will begin the investigation of plans at once and the work will be pushed rapidly forward.

The decision Wednesday night was a great victory for the church in more ways than one. The question of building has been agitated for the past fifteen years, but nothing ever came of it before, for the reason that the members were unable to meet upon common grounds and agree to the same terms without division. The mere fact that they have put aside personal feelings and prejudices in the matter and deliberated for the best interests of the church as a whole and decided to stand together, cannot but be in itself a wonderful influence, both in the church and among the friends of the church.

MAY SOCIAL.

The senior members of the Young Men's Christian association will give a May social to their friends Monday evening, May 2, in the parlors of the association building.

May 11 to 15 will be held the international convention of the North American Young Men's Christian association, in Buffalo, N. Y. Delegates from China, India, Japan and Europe will also be present. The association stands to the very front among the organizations whose aims are the betterment of men and while it is only some fifty-four years old in America and Canada, yet it numbers among its strongest supporters many of the leading men of this country, among the list being President Roosevelt, General Miles, Admiral Dewey, John P. Stokes, Lyman Pierce, John V. Farwell, Cyrus McCormick, A. P. Bailey, J. H. Eckels and many others.

RUSSIAN WAR NEWS SERVICE

Melville E. Stone Tells How the Censorship Was Removed.

PRIVATE AUDIENCE WITH THE Czar

Nicholas II. Considered the Subject Thoroughly, Freely Discussing All Possible Objections, and After a Brief Delay Mr. Stone Was Informed That All of His Suggestions Had Been Approved and the Censorship Abolished Forever.

Melville E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press, in an interview in the Chicago Post thus speaks of his work in St. Petersburg in securing the removal of the Russian censorship from American press dispatches: "An early audience with Count Lansdorff, the Russian minister of foreign affairs, was arranged, and while he was most cordial, he said the whole matter belonged in the department of M. Plehve, the minister of the interior. 'I am acquainted with your wishes,' said Count Lansdorff, 'and you may trust me to do anything in my power to further the matter. Only yesterday I forwarded the report of our agent upon his interview with you to Minister Plehve, with my earnest recommendation that we meet your views.' Of course, this was encouraging, but when I had talked with M. Plehve I was less confident. He was courteous, but he is a man having upon his shoulders the entire responsibility for the internal order of the empire, and before taking any radical steps he must look carefully into the business. So about all he could say was that he would take the matter under advisement and see what could be done.

"I asked four things:

"First.—A press rate.

"Second.—Precedence for our telegrams.

"Third.—An 'open door,' so far as the government offices were concerned, so that our correspondents would be welcomed and given the news.

"Fourth.—The abolition of the censorship so far as it applied to us.

"M. Plehve suggested that I see M. Dournov, the minister of telegraphs, and he arranged the interview. As a result the first two of my suggestions were granted immediately. M. Dournov said he was powerless to stop a government telegram for us, as is done in France, but he gave an order that our dispatches should follow government telegrams and precede all others.

And he assured me that under all ordinary conditions this meant that we could be sure of receiving a news dispatch from Port Arthur or Vladivostok over the Transsiberian lines within an hour. I am happy to say that his judgment has been fully borne out in experience.

"Then, without solicitation on my part or that of Mr. McCormick, our ambassador, I was 'commanded' to a private audience of the emperor at the Winter palace. This lasted about an hour. The emperor asked how long I purposed remaining in St. Petersburg and said that if I would wait a week he would undertake to do all the things I asked. He said that all they wanted was that the truth be told, and he believed there was more certainty of securing such an end by the plan I had outlined. Mr. William T. Stend had been there a year before trying to accomplish the same thing, but I am afraid he was not very tactful about it.

"The same evening I attended the great court ball, and the emperor came up and renewed the conversation and assured Ambassador McCormick that if I would remain in St. Petersburg for a week he would arrange everything. It was agreed that I should put my suggestions into the form of a memorandum and send it to him.

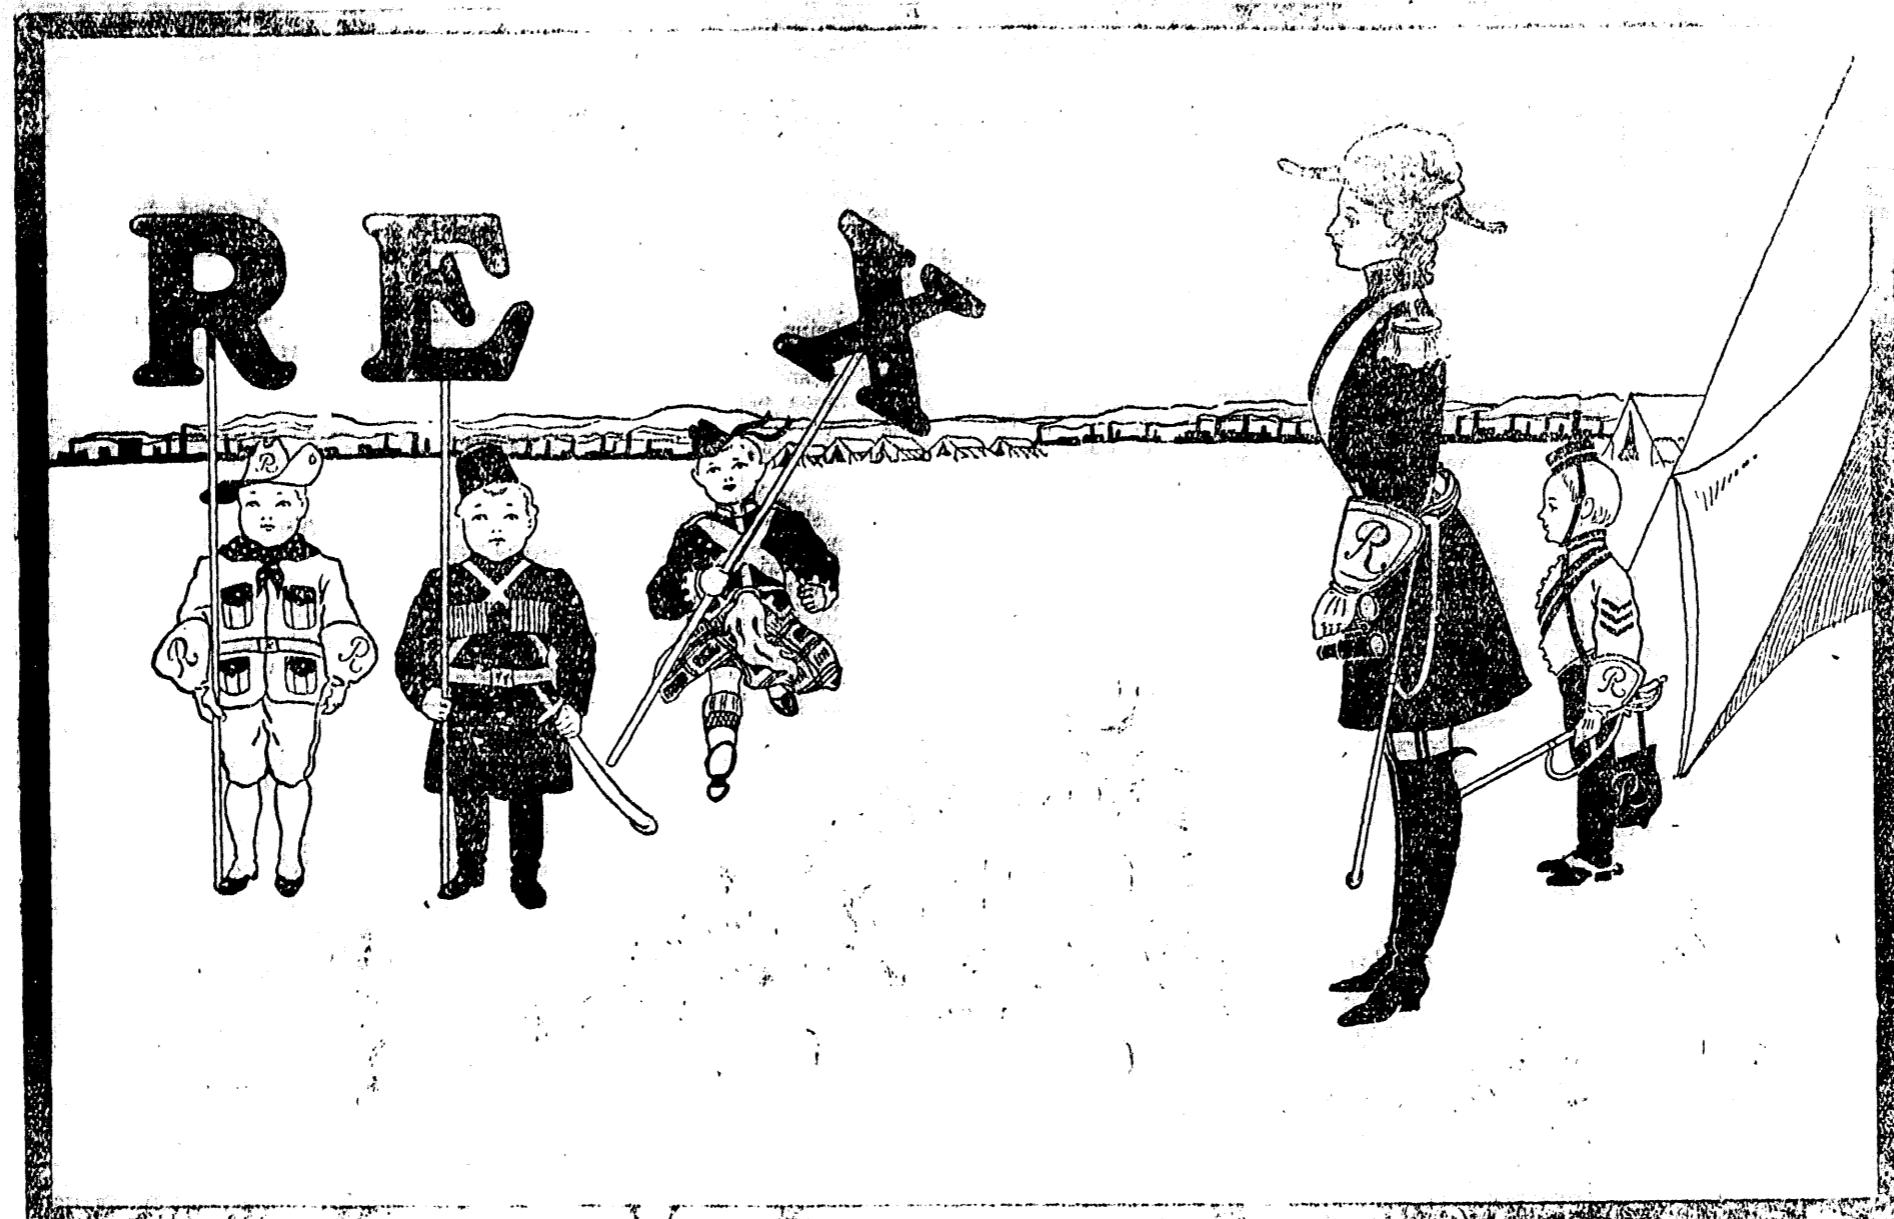

"The following Thursday I met Minister Plehve at a reception, and he said he was afraid they could not abolish the censorship, 'although, of course, the matter was in the hands of his majesty, who would do as he thought wise.' M. Plehve wanted to know if I would not be content with the appointment of a bureau of censorship to be located at the telegraph office and to be open day and night. I replied that that would certainly be a great improvement, but that I hoped for something better.

"Then the war came on, and everybody was fully occupied. It was arranged that I should go to Berlin to dine with Ambassador Tower, when the German emperor should be present. After dinner I had an hour's talk with Emperor William and told him of my efforts in Russia. He promptly volunteered to help in any way possible and assured me repeatedly of the high regard in which the German government held the Associated Press. He kept his promise in a very substantial way.

"When I returned to St. Petersburg, Count Lansdorff advised me that Emperor Nicholas had approved the memorandum I had sent him and that as soon as some petty details could be adjusted the censorship would be abolished. I then wrote notes to Minister Lansdorff and Plehve thanking them and took my leave. When I reached Vienna I received a telegram notifying me that the censorship had been forever abolished.

"Then I wrote a letter to the emperor expressing my thanks and the hope that his act would result in better relations between Russia and the United States. Then too, although Mr. Lamont, the responsible censor, was a most intelligent and most obliging person, he was at best a subaltern, who must always be mindful of the criticisms that would follow any error of judgment he might be guilty of. It was therefore, only natural that he should refuse to pass anything which any one above him in authority might, by any possibility, construe as doubtful. Without any disposition on his part to be ungenerous, his duty became, out of the very necessities of the case, one of suppression rather than censorship.

"I submitted these facts to the emperor and urged that, notwithstanding all of this effort, the censorship was not alone ineffective, but really hurtful to Russia. It was ineffective for the reason that no power could prevent a correspondent from writing whatever he chose and sending it across the border to a German telegraph office whence it would go in full. The most, therefore, that the Russian censorship on dispatches going to foreign countries did was to delay them twelve or fifteen hours and to vex and anger the correspondents. But, I pleaded, these were not the only consequences of the censorship. Since these obstacles were put in the way of sending the truth out of Russia there had grown up a regular trade in the business of supplying the press of the world with false news

NATURE SPARS

The Stricken Rose From Grief.

What a fortunate provision of nature it is that deprives the rose of its perfume for the period when it would be its chief delight to fill the air with its blossoming glory, that a canker fed at its heart, and that its beauty and fragrance were doomed forever. Nature always spares the suffering; she is a veritable storehouse of pleasing rewards, for those who seek her aid. In the years gone by, by filling her hair and grayness have lost a bloom, the hair of thousands of young women, but thanks to the investigations of scientists the true cause of hair destruction is now known to be a germ or parasite that burrows into the hair follicles. Newbro's Herpicide absolutely destroys this germ, thus permitting the hair to grow as nature intended. Send 10¢ in stamp for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

A BROWNIE CLUB.

Denver Organization In Which the Midcrest Will Be Supreme.

A "Brownie" club has been formed in Denver. No man will be allowed to become a member who is more than five feet six inches tall, and the shorter the better, although the members state, according to a Denver dispatch, that there will be no limitation as to girth measure.

The members are measuring one another to see who shall be president, for this club will choose its officers not by ballot, but according to size. The smallest man is to be president, the next smallest vice president, and so on. H. E. May is probably the smallest charter member of the club, and he is anxiously measuring his friends to see if he has a monopoly on the presidency.

One of the bylaws of the club is to be that all unmarried members of the club when they become bachelors must marry a maiden at least six feet tall.

Any member joining the club who is still growing at the time of his affiliation is taken only on approval. If he grows to be more than five feet six inches tall he will be expelled. An official "yard stick man" is to be elected, and it will be his duty to measure all doubtful ones at every meeting.

The club will have in its membership one large man. He must be six feet three. He will be the official guard, and it will be his duty to protect members of the Brownie club from outsiders at all their meetings.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Conveniences Which Lighten the Labors of the Cook.

There is much in arrangement. If the kitchen is small this takes care of itself, but in the large kitchen it requires some study and experience to know just where it is best for a certain object to stand. Housekeepers there are who place the woodbox at the end of the stove farthest from the firebox. Five or six steps must be taken to replenish the fire when, if the box stood at the upper end, the wood could be placed in the stove without a step, says a writer in the Housekeeper. Then, too, many housekeepers bend over a stove, sink or table too low for their height. The stove can be built up on bricks till it is the right height, and the table can be raised on blocks till it is convenient. The sink is a more difficult matter, but if it is too low for the housewife and the expense of making it higher is not to be thought of, put the dishpan on the table and wash the dishes there instead of in the sink. Do anything to avoid bending the back at an angle. A high stool should be in every kitchen, for it is possible to do much more work while sitting down than one would believe who had not tried it.

Another convenient article for the kitchen is a bench or box on which the mop pail may be placed when one is mopping the floor or washing paint. This bench saves one from stooping to the floor each time the mop or cloth must be wrung out, and it is this stooping that makes this kind of work so tiresome. This same bench can be used for elevating the clothes basket when one is hanging out clothes.

Some folks never know when they are beaten. That is why they come out on top in the end. Sticking to a thing, like a dog to a root, tells in the long run.

THE PROPERTY

runs down or improves, just depends on how it is cared for. It is the most valuable property we have and should receive the most consideration. It helps you in business, helps good looks, helps make friends, helps get relatives and friends and holds them, and always makes happiness. Property like this, at the first indication of being out of repair, should be looked after and a remedy applied at once. There are any number of signs that show repairs are needed. Blisters, spells, indigestion, dyspepsia, belching, dizziness, sick headache, salmon complexion, pimples and liver spots on the face, a drowsy feeling after meals, sour stomach, etc. These symptoms all show loss of health. Druggists will sell you for 25¢ a box of Dr. Gunn's Improved Liver Pills, a sure cure for all of these diseases.

"Our men who were frostbitten got an extra tcharka of vodka. It is astonishing how easy it is to get bitten. What we want first is matches, as our train has hot air pipes. I wish we had a stove. Yanko had a whole box of matches, which he sold singly. I owe him 1 ruble and 3 kopecks.

"The second battalion of our regiment is at Harbin, and we shall see our old friends and also the Chinamen who are going to fight on our side. So what does it matter if the English go against us? If they do we shall stop at Chita and go back to India. Some of our officers fought against the English in the last war against the Turks. A Turk is a better man than a Japanese any day, and if we beat the Turks we can beat the Japanese."

A LITTLE NONSENSE.

The One Thing That Prevented the Mare From Doing It.

To Clean Things.
The Cooking Club gives some good cleaning methods. A tablespoonful of vinegar mixed with three of pure linseed oil will freshen and polish mahogany. Alcohol cleans piano keys, kerosene, oilcloth table and shelf covers. For sponging out bureau drawers or sideboards use tepid water containing a small quantity of thymolin. To clean a clock lay in the bottom a rag saturated with kerosene. The fumes loosen the dirt and cause it to drop out. In a few days place another cloth saturated in kerosene in the clock. The fumes lubricate the works.

Lighting a Dark Room.

A room situated so that it does not get any direct sunlight, but only reflected light, may be made more cheerful if the walls are covered with a paper that has a background of some delicate yellow shade. The painted woodwork should be of a creamy tint, and with yellow India silk or muslin draperies at the windows one can almost imagine oneself in a room with a southern exposure.

Air Cupboards and Wardrobes.
Don't forget that cupboards and wardrobes where clothes are kept need frequent airing. On a sunny day open the doors and leave them open for several hours. Never put away a dress bodice without first airing it. Attention to little details like this, which keeps one's clothes fresh and sweet, is well worth while.

George M. Peters Charged With Forgery—Deputy Smith Brought Prisoner From Galesburg.

Sheriff H. J. Rodgers received information Wednesday from the authorities in Galesburg to the effect that George M. Peters, who has been wanted in this city since 1902 for forgery, was in custody there. Deputy Sheriff George W. Smith went to Galesburg with the necessary papers and brought Peters to this city Wednesday night.

A salesman, giving his name as George M. Peters, stopped in this city at the Mitchell hotel about July 21, 1902, claiming to represent the F. C. Blanke Tea and Coffee company, of St. Louis. Mr. Mitchell identified Peters and endorsed the check. The check was drawn on the Laclede National bank of St. Louis, and the signature was that of the F. C. Blanke Tea and Coffee company.

Peters left town the same day the check was cashed and in a few days the check was returned, having been protested. The signature proved to be a forgery and a warrant was sworn out for Mr. Peters' arrest. He could not be located and had not been heard of until arrested in Galesburg.
